CAPITAL AGAIN MOVED, MANY TROOPS CAPTURED

Serbia Is In Desperate Straits, Her Capital Has Again Been Moved and Many Prisoners and Cannons Captured—Fierce Fighting on Italian Front With Italians Gaining—Greek Premier Is Expected to Resign Because of the Differences Between Great Britain and Greece—Russians Claim Victory Over Germans Before Riga—China May Reject the Proposal of the Allies To Join Them—England Denies the Blockade of Greek Ports—Another Greek Cabinet Crisis Seems Near—It is Believed Greece Has Partially Agreed to Demands of Allies.

[By Associated Press.]
London, Nov. 23.—The Serbian government has been removed to Prisrend, near the Albanian frontier and the diplomatic force is going to Petch, Montenegro.

Rome reports a desperate battle raging for Gorizia, where the Italians retain the recent advance.

On the Carso plateau the Italians took the offensive, making fresh progress.

In Serbia, Berlin says that eight thousand Serbians and sixty-five guns were captured southeast of Plistina, and that fifteen hundred additional Serbians were captured elsewhere.

A Salonika message states the Grecian premier, Skouloudis, is expected momentarily to resign on account of differences between Great Britain and Greece.

There is little news from the eastern line except for the Russian announcement of the defeat of the Germans before Riga.

Artillery is busy on the western front, where the only recent activity has been mining and aerial operations.

China May Reject Proposal.
[By Associated Press.]
Peking, Nov. 23.—The suggestion of the entente allies that China join them was not well received by Yuan Shi Kai, who is unwilling to abandon his neutrality and sacrifice the German good will.

England Denies Blockade.
[By Associated Press.]
London, Nov. 23.—The foreign office states that no Greek ships are being seized or held up in British ports and no blockade of Greek ports has been instituted or put in force.

No amplification of this statement is available, but the universal deduction is that Greece has satisfied the British demands and guaranteed the safety of the Anglo-French expeditionary forces. It is now believed the Athens announcement concerning the commercial blockade of Greece was premature, presenting only provisional intentions of the Allies as accomplished facts.

Germans Pressing Serbs.
[By Associated Press.]
Berlin, Nov. 23.—The Austro-German and Bulgarian forces are pressing the Serbians in the drive toward Kossova Plain from both northeast and southeast of Plistina, according to a statement here, and the Teutons now are nearing Mitrovitz, the recent Serbian capital.

An unconfirmed report from Constantinople says the Allies have resumed a violent offensive at the Dardanelles.

British Consols Low.
[By Associated Press.]
London, Nov. 23.—The abolition of the minimum prices imposed at the outbreak of the war did not lead to much selling pressure on the stock exchange today and consols, which had been noted at a minimum of 65, dropped to 58, the lowest record in more than a hundred years.

Two Landed Safely in Austin, While Four Lost Their Course on the Trip.
[By Associated Press.]
Austin, Texas, Nov. 23.—One of the six army aeroplanes, which left Waco at 9:30 this morning for Austin, was missing at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The machines, after leaving Waco encountered a strong east wind and hazy weather made the following of landmarks difficult. Two of the aeroplanes landed at Austin, two at Lampasas and one at Kingsland, near Marble Falls. Every effort is being made to locate the sixth machine.

Lost Flyer Showed Up.
Austin, Texas, Nov. 23.—The missing aeroplane arrived safely here this afternoon. The other three are expected to leave Lampasas and Kingsland this afternoon. All had lost their course.

GLAD TO PAY FOR IT.
The damage to the paving on West Anderson street caused by the bonfire built by the A. and M. cadets in celebrating the great victory last Friday night will be repaired in the next few days, according to a report by City Engineer A. S. Adams. The repairs will cost about $18, but Mr. Adams says the city will pay this willingly, as the A. and M. team won the game.

BRYAN TO HAVE WEEK OF CARNIVAL

Wortham Shows to Play Entire Week of Nov. 29—Benefit Bryan Fire Department.

Bryan is to have a carnival again and at that the biggest and best in its history. Of course every carnival that ever stopped here had these claims, but with the Wortham shows, the attractions that are booked for the benefit of the firemen, there is some reason to believe that the statement is true.

C. A. Wortham is recognized as the leading magnate of the carnival business throughout the entire United States and particularly so in the State of Texas, where he is known as the man who put San Antonio on the map as building the biggest tented organization ever produced in that city and where he played the Fiesta San Jacinto this year and holds the contract to play again this next spring.

Wortham Shows are, first of all, clean; that is to say, there are no objectionable features to be seen on the midway; they are full of novelty and up-to-date in every respect.

This season they have played every important date in Texas; namely, Austin, last spring for the benefit of the Pageant Committee and the flood sufferers; the Texas State Fair and the No-Tsu-Oh, Houston—an engagement that they filled last year with signal success.

There are a number of attractions with the Wortham Shows and a list of entertainments that are new to the carnival world. All of them have been the subject of much study on the part of their owner to make them as perfect as possible, so that at the present time C. A. Wortham stands without a rival in the outdoor amusement field, and without a peer as a caterer to popular taste in entertainment matters.

The C. A. Wortham Shows are booked to appear here next Monday for the benefit of the fire department and will remain in the city all of next week.

This will be the first occasion that Bryan has ever had to play the same attractions as the No-Tsu-Oh, and doubtless there will be a good gathering from the country to take in the biggest carnival and celebration that has ever been staged here.

A GREAT SERMON.

Dr. Anderson of Dallas Filled the Presbyterian Pulpit.

No more helpful, no more inspiring sermon was ever heard in Bryan than that of Dr. William M. Anderson at the First Presbyterian Church last night. Dr. Anderson is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Dallas and easily ranks with the ablest ministers of his denomination and of the South.

At 6:45 he addressed a union meeting of the young people's church societies of the city, which was a gem of rare beauty and greatly enjoyed by all present. At 7:30 he preached to an audience that filled the church to its capacity and the sermon was both a blessing and a benediction. He chose for his theme "God's promises," and based his remarks upon the 28th verse of the 8th chapter of Romans—"And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose."

The sermon was a great exposition of the text, showing how the lights and shadows, the joys and sorrows, the successes and the failures, all fit in together in the span of human life, and all work together for good, the only condition being that you love God.

The climax of the sermon was the testing time, the bringing of ourselves up through faith to that supreme moment, when, regardless of the shadows, the sorrows, the darkness, the night, we can rely without doubting upon the promises of God, and say with our whole hearts, "Thy will be done."

GIVEN EXAMINING TRIAL.

John Pillows, colored, charged with forgery, was given an examining trial before Justice of the Peace L. D. McGee yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He was admitted to bond by Judge McGee in the sum of $400, to await the action of the grand jury at the March term of the District Court.

TEXAS TEACHERS WILL CONVENE

Meeting in Corpus Christi 25, 26 and 27 to Be Largely Attended.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Nov. 27.—"Education in a Democracy" is the great central theme for the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Texas Teachers' Association, to be held in this city on November 25, 26 and 27. Secretary T. D. Brooks of Hillsboro has arranged for the operation of special trains out of Dallas, Tyler and San Antonio, and under this plan, and with attractive low rates prevailing, he believes that no less than 2,000 and possibly 3,000 teachers will attend the three days sessions.

Governor James E. Ferguson, whom the teachers in their official program have honored by referring to him as "Our Educational Governor," will be the principal speaker on the opening day of the convention. Particular interest will center in the address of his excellency as it is assured that he will speak on educational matters that he has presented at the previous session of the Legislature and of other legislation that he hopes to secure for the school boys, girls and teachers during his tenure as the chief executive.

Others who will speak on the opening day of the convention will be W. F. Doughty, State superintendent of instruction; B. B. Cobb superintendent of the Waco schools, and Roy Miller, mayor of Corpus Christi, who will welcome the teachers.

The speakers at the general meeting on Friday, November 26th, will include J. L. McBrien, extension agent bureau of education, Washington, D. C.; Dr. W. A. Davis of the Texas State Board of Health, J. F. Kimball, superintendent of the Dallas public schools; P. W. Horne, superintendent of the Houston public schools, and H. J. Waters of Manhattan, Kansas, president of the Kansas Agricultural College. Sectional meetings will be held throughout Friday and Saturday.

The University of Texas banquet will be given at the Nueces Hotel on the evening of Friday, November 25. The reunion banquet of Southwestern University will be given at the Nueces on the same evening. A reunion dinner for the graduates of the State Normal Colleges will be given on the same evening. Members of the other universities and schools of the State are arranging social affairs for the three days of the convention.

DALLAS HAS RAISED THE MONEY

The $100,000 Fund to Land National Democratic Convention is Far Oversubscribed.

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 22.—It was announced yesterday that the $100,000 fund being raised by Dallas and Texas Democrats to bring the 1916 National Democratic Convention to Dallas, had been oversubscribed by $30,000.

The surplus will be used, it was announced, as a part of a $150,000 fund to erect a coliseum for the convention.

Dallas is the first city to raise an "all cash" bonus, and those promoting the project claim a record in raising the fund in three days.

A special train will be run from this city to Washington in December, when the National Democratic Committee meets, with delegates to work for Dallas' candidacy.

SALOON BURGLARIZED.

The Farmers saloon on North Main street, S. C. Wootton proprietor, was burglarized last night. The burglar secured $1.50 in change, a box of cigars and a small quantity of liquor. He effected an entrance through the rear by prizing two of the iron bars to admit his body. He made an effort to break in the safe by screwing the knob off the door, but abandoned the idea as soon as he discovered this did no good. The matter was reported to the officers who are working on the case, but no arrests have been made.

London, Nov. 22.—There is no official intimation here that Greece has given satisfactory assurances to the allied powers of her intentions, and the commercial blockade of that country continues.

A Salonika dispatch says it is rumored there that the allies have decided to carry the blockade to the extent of establishing a war zone around Greece, cutting off all supplies.

Berlin newspapers describe the blockade as an act of violence against a small neutral country which intends to maintain neutrality without engaging in intrigues.

A Turkish transport it is reported struck a mine and was sunk in the Sea of Marmora, with the loss of more than five hundred troops.

Rome announces the Italians made substantial gains on the heights of Gorizia on the Isonia front, and on Carso Plateau, where the Austrians are being dislodged.

The automobile stolen was identified by its owner, Dr. Greenwood of Houston, who stated the car was stolen two or three days before young Hooper was arrested in this county.

RURAL CREDITS DEFINITIONS.

As ordinarily used the term "rural credits" may be said to include all means by which capital is extended and made available to farmers for the development and operation of their farms. Long-time loans in European countries usually run from periods of from ten to seventy-five years, with an average of perhaps of not less than thirty-five years. These long-term loans are practically always payable on the "amortization" plan, which means simply that the interest (seldom more than 4 or 5 per cent per annum) and a small percentage of the principal of the debt are paid in small equal annual or semi-annual installments. As an illustration, a loan of $1,000 for sixteen years at 6 per cent by the amortization plan would be repayable at the rate of $100 annually, which would be sufficient in sixteen years to pay the interest and entirely repay the loan. Or a loan of $100, with interest at 6 per cent, may be entirely repaid, including interest, in nineteen years by nineteen annual payments of $9 each. Next to amortization, "debenture" is one of the most common terms used in connection with rural credits. When so used, the word means simply a bond secured by the assets of the issuing company, the assets in this case being chiefly in the form of farm mortgages held by the lending association, company or government, as the case may be.—The Progressive Farmer.

TRAINING OF NAPOLEON'S HORSES

Taught to Endure Every Possible Condition for Emperor's Safety.

London, Nov. 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—In connection with the accident to King George, who sustained severe injuries in a fall from his horse, the London papers recall the precautions that were taken lest Napoleon should appear at a disadvantage on horseback. The Emperor was not a first class horseman, and his horses were always specially trained. Here is a description of the methods employed:

"They were trained to remain perfectly steady under tortures of every description; to receive blows about the head; drums were beat, pistols and fire crackers were fired in their ears, flags waved before their eyes, clumsy packages, and sometimes even sheep and pigs, were thrown between their legs. None were deemed sufficiently trained until the Emperor could, without the least difficulty, pull them up short at full gallop, which was his favorite pace."

New York, Nov. 18.—The first payments of the syndicate members from all over the country to the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan were made here. The checks were drawn against a deposit of $70,000,000 in the National City Bank, which represents the syndicate call for the payment of 15 per cent of the total subscription to the loan, allowing for discounts from par and other charges.

The funds were turned into the bank by J. P. Morgan & Company for the account of the agents of the British and French governments.

Total deposits of the National City Bank yesterday rose to $537,000,000, which exceeds by $19,000,000 the bank's previous high record.

BIG COTTON DEAL.

Although late in the season for big cotton deals, one of the largest of the season was made yesterday, when A. K. Brown, a local buyer for Bush & Witherspoon of Waco, purchased 500 bales of this season's cotton. Two hundred and sixty-five bales were purchased from M. B. Parker and the remainder from a local firm. The Eagle did not learn definitely the price paid for the cotton, but was informed it was bought at market price, or 11c, middling basis.

Benjamin Franklin—"Father of American Diplomacy"

AMERICA has never produced a greater statesman than Franklin, who was revered by the people second only to Washington. He was a signer of both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and his wisdom made the latter a possibility. The great Lord Chatham pronounced him not only an honor to the Anglo-Saxon people, but to human nature. In every capitol of Europe he was a welcome guest, and he it was who induced France to lend us ships, men and money during the darkest days of the Revolution. Upon his death Congress ordered a general mourning of a month. In France it was decreed that all members of the national assembly should wear mourning for three days. So long as Americans treasure the Republic and Personal Liberty as the noblest of all human blessings, the fame of Franklin can never perish. Personally he was possessed of robust health; he was a well-shaped man, of a wise but merry nature; he had the head of a Greek philosopher, while his grace, his noble bearing and winning personality made him a conspicuous figure in any assemblage of great men. He was a moderate user all his lifetime of Old Madeira and barley-malt brews. It is safe to say that he toasted the New Republic with every great man of Europe and America. Franklin considered his work in building the Constitution his greatest service to posterity. Upon the self-evident declaration of the Constitution of the United States Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago launched their gigantic institution. To-day, wherever Americans go for health, or business, or pleasure, their famed brand BUDWEISER is there. Its popularity, due to its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, has daily grown in public favor until 7500 people are constantly employed to keep pace with the ever-increasing demand.

A. & M. PUT THE FIXIN'S ON VARSITY

MIGHTY CHAMPIONS WERE SUBDUED BEFORE TEN THOUSAND TEXAS FANS

Resumption of Athletic Relations Between the University and A. & M. Resulted In Great Victory for Farmers—Greatest Football Game Ever Witnessed in Texas—Score 13 to 0, Favor A. & M.

It is written, written in the football history of Texas, and the writing chronicles the fact that the football team of the A. & M. College of Texas stands head and shoulders above all others as State champions world without end. The resumption of athletic relations between these two great institutions on Kyle field yesterday afternoon was beyond question the greatest football game ever played in Texas, witnessed by the largest number of spectators, and the perfect gridiron located in the center of a large bowl filled with the enthusiastic rooters of the two teams looked not unlike the great games of the East when thirty and forty thousand are present. The crowd yesterday was variously estimated at from seven to ten thousand, Bryan, College and the surrounding country being present en masse, many coming from nearby towns in automobiles, and the six special trains bringing thousands from Houston, Austin, Waco, Dallas and intermediate points. The renewal of relations was a great game, clean, fair, square and the result proved beyond all question A. & M.'s superiority.

At 2:55 the officials gathered with the leaders. Big Captain Berry of Texas won the toss and chose to defend the north goal, with a slight breeze at its back.

Just before the game began the A. & M. stands en masse sang "Auld Lang Syne." Obviously the renewal game had been staged with the best of feeling.

A. & M. was first on the field, Harlan sending his second squad out on the gridiron first, while the cadet band blared that queer melody, "What Makes the Wildcat Wild?"

A pretty bit of intercollegiate courtesy took place when the Texas yell leaders, led by Casey Jones, went over and led the Farmer rooters while the A. & M. leaders, led by Runt Hanson, did the same for the Longhorns.

The whistle blew at 3 o'clock sharp and the Texas team trotted out on the field to receive a kick-off from Burns of A. & M. A moment later Texas football history began to be written on Kyle field.

Following is an extract report of the game as made to the Houston Post by William B. Ruggles, sporting editor of that paper:

His name is Collins—Warren Collins, a "fresh" at Texas A. & M., and last year and two years before a star on a scholastic eleven at Austin high school—under the very shadow of the camp of A. & M.'s ancient foe, the State University.

His name is Collins—and they called him yellow. They jeered him and said that he could not stand the gaff.

But because of Warren Collins, his nerve and a kicking toe that has not been equalled since Arnold Kirkpatrick passed from Texas football, another of the football upsets of 1915 occurred yesterday at College Station, and Kyle field saw football history made when A. & M. defeated Texas 13 to 0.

They call Collins yellow. But yesterday back of a line that held when holding was needed and facing the terrific charging of the greatest line in Texas of State football records, he punted for an average of nearly 50 yards, and because of the efficacy of Warren Collins' toe A. & M. has established a muddle in State football circles that will be difficult indeed to clear.

The punting of Collins—the field goal booting of Lee Coleman, a Fort Worth boy for three years an A. & M. star—and the fierce and aggressive play of the entire team against an ancient foe—and Captain Garrity's mal spirits and his iron Irish courage, followed the ball. Texas' fumbles—and they were frequent—were almost invariably found clutched in the arm of the game Farmer leader.

A. & M. showed no consistent offense. The Farmers could not penetrate the Texas line at all nor could they run the ends. The victors recorded but four first downs in the course of the game, excluding one nullified by a holding penalty. One of these came in the first half, a forward pass, Collins to Garrity, which was directly responsible for the second drop kick by Coleman. The others all came in the second half—the two line plunges which netted the touchdown, later another forward pass, Collins to Garrity, which eventually gained nothing, and one line plunge in midfield, which also netted naught.

Texas is blaming its defeat on two stars a lad who was given his chance and failed. Littlefield and Walker alert and watchful end rolled up a total of 13 points yesterday—an unlucky number for Texas indeed, since it marked their fifth defeat at the hands of A. & M. in the 20 years' history of football relations between the two schools.

JOHNNY GARRITY,
A. & M.'s Captain.

Collins and Coleman and Garrity—it sounds to the lay mind like the chorus of an Irish ballad—and the three names were lifted merrily at College Station last night.

Twice Coleman booted field goals, one a drop kick from the 43-yard line, that put his team in the lead.

Throughout the game Collins punted and once he tore eight yards through the supposedly invincible for the only touchdown of the game. And both of these feats were made possible by the lightning manner in which Johnny Garrity, the little A. & M. captain, playing with two broken ribs and a sprained ankle on his sheer aniboth contributed costly fumbles, while to the poor handling of Collins' punts by Ray Williams, promoted from the scrubs to a seat at regular quarters for the game, may be directly traced the loss. But Williams had plenty of excuse. The best backs in the State would have found it impossible to handle the kind of spiral kicked by the Austin boy yesterday.

Texas failed signally in its open game. Forward passes were repeatedly broken up and were never good for more than short gains. The Longhorns were actually within the A. & M. 20-yard line but once in the first quarter, and the march up to the 11-yard line, where Walker's fumble occurred, was the only consistent advance the Orange made.

Texas' shift formations, particularly the direct pass from center to back, seemed to worry the Farmers in the first half, but toward the latter part of the game they were solving the Texas plays and breaking them up.

Too much praise cannot be accorded the A. & M. defense. The Farmers played a hard, aggressive game, and their tackling was beautiful to behold. There was no single occasion when a Farmer runner dived for a man that he missed him, and usually there were two tacklers to the man. The two big tackles, ramparts in the line, Crow and Settegast, led in this respect, while both Kendrick and Garrity played roving leads and frequently tackled from behind runners on the other side of the line.

Burns redeemed his poor work in the Rice game by playing a great quarter, running his team in the well directed kicking game, and receiving punts in fine style.

But above all it was Collins and Coleman and Garrity, all three of whom were offensive and defensive stars.

ROLLINS.

Among the outstanding features of yesterday's game, one fact looms up above the rest. It was the best of fabled contest ever staged in Texas. A. & M. and Texas went far afield for the four men who worked the game. No one of them save McCreary had ever set foot on a Texas gridiron. And they ran the game in brilliant fashion. Referee Grover conducted the game better than any official that has acted in Texas and he had able assistance.

It was a fumble by Littlefield early in the first quarter, recovered by Garrity on the 35-yard line, that gave A. & M. its chance. Failing to gain, Coleman tried a drop kick from the 45-yard line which fell short. Again Texas rushed to midfield and again Littlefield fumbled and Coleman recovered on the 36-yard line. Three plunges and a forward pass failed. Then Coleman dropped back to the 43-yard line and, calmly and unconcerned, as if it was his day's occupation, drop kicked the ball between the uprights from directly between them. A. & M.'s stands went wild while the referee lined the two teams up again for the kick-off. Score A. & M. 3, Varsity 0.

Collins promptly kicked as the second quarter opened. An exchange of punts followed on several scrimmage plays in which Texas could make first downs but could not penetrate far into A. & M.'s territory, while the Farmers could not gain at all. On each punt, however, A. & M. was gaining ground as Collins was outkicking Littlefield. The exchange of punts finally put A. & M. on the Texas 40-yard line and a 30-yard forward pass,

KENDRICK.

Collins to Garrity, gave A. & M. its initial first down of the game on Texas' 10-yard line. Collins and Coleman were again unable to hit the Texas line or skirt the wings, and on the last attempt Coleman was thrown for a loss. The Fort Worth boy deliberately dropped back to the 22-yard mark and on the next play drop kicked another goal from a fairly difficult angle. Throughout the remainder of the quarter Texas could not penetrate far into Farmer grounds and the close of the half found them trying desperately to get away with long forward passes. Score at end of first half, A. & M. 6, Varsity 0.

Between the halves the Texas rooters, nearly a thousand strong, paraded ed over in front of the cadet stands for the first time in the history of the two schools and cheered the Farmers before beginning their own rooting.

Later the cadet corps, led by the band, paraded over the field, formed a big "T" in front of the Longhorn stands and returned the compliment.

Fifteen minutes later the game was resumed. Almost at the start the final score of the game was made, and with it went most of the Texas hopes. Coleman returned Littlefield's punt to the 45-yard line, but could not gain first down, and Collins kicked to Ray Williams, standing on his 20-yard line. Williams made his fatal fumble and the lightning Garrity recovered on the 17-yard line and could not be downed until he had reached the second chalk mark from the Texas goal. Collins hit the line for three yards and was then tossed for no gain. On the next play A. & M. made its one consistent gain through the Texas line. The Longhorns were probably caught unaware, figuring that an end run would be another of Coleman's kicks would be tried. But back of his giant pounds

GILFILLAN.

Warren Collins ploughed into the line and went eight yards for a touchdown. Kendrick kicked the goal, making the score 13 to 0.

In the fourth and last period A. & M. played largely on the defensive and the toe work of Collins kept the ball the greater part of the time far from A. & M.'s goal.

With about five minutes to play the Texas stands were electrified by a chance at a touchdown, when Kelso ran a punt back to the Farmers' 20-yard line. But one rip at the line proved no gains and forward passes failed. The ball went over and when Collins kicked again the Longhorns had lost their last chance.

The Farmer playing in this half was phenomenal. Their tackling, fierce and aggressive, never missed. Give them a finger hold and they could throw even the husky Littlefield and Kelso, ripping their sweaters from their backs with tenacious grip. The forwards, ends and tackles, broke in behind Texas' interference and spilled their men repeatedly. It was the culmination of the game that was A. & M.'s all the way.

SPECIAL OVER INTERURBAN.

The people along the Bryan & Central Texas Interurban were given a sight yesterday that was never seen on that line before, when the Houston & Texas Central special train from Austin came into town over the interurban. The train was pulled by two engines and there were eleven well filled passenger coaches. The management of the interurban had everything in readiness for the train to make the trip over the road and no delay was experienced. The train is reported to have run from Bryan Junction to Bryan in twenty-six minutes and reached College five minutes ahead of schedule time.

SCHOOL HOUSE DAY.

At a joint meeting of the district and the county school trustees in September, a resolution was passed setting apart Friday, November 26, as School House Day throughout the county. It was recommended that on this day the whole people of each community meet at their school house and join with teachers and pupils in carrying out such a program as would tend to increase interest in the school and build up the community. In adopting this idea of a School House Day our trustees are but following the example of the more progressive counties of the State. The plan has already been tried in many counties, and with gratifying results.

The success of any popular movement depends, in the first place, upon the number who become interested. Just to get the whole people of a community together on any occasion is quite an achievement. It is to be hoped that the local trustees and the patrons of each school will co-operate with the teachers and students in getting as large a representation out as possible. If possible, every family in the community should be represented.

A program appropriate to the day will admit of great variety; but everything done should tend definitely toward one result—the improvement of the school and the strengthening of community spirit. There may be brief literary exercises, a debate, a spelling match, short themes on topics of local interest, etc. Athletic contests may be introduced, for these will attract some who might not otherwise be interested. A part of the program should bear in a very practical way upon the solution of the problems facing the community. Short talks may be made along lines definitely determined beforehand. If Mr. B. is called on to "make us a short talk on any subject he may wish," much valuable time will be wasted and the audience bored; but if Mr. B. has been appointed to give in three minutes his plan of doing the particular thing he has succeeded in and the thing everybody wants to know about, something will be accomplished. Live subjects for discussion are as numerous and as varied as are the needs and interests of a community. Here are a few examples: "How I Keep Sweet Potatoes;" "The Best Shade Trees for Our Locality;" "How to Transplant a Tree;" "The Best Three Papers or Magazines for a Farmer's Family;" "What I Think of a School Tax for Our Community;" or, for the young people, "Shall We Organize a Debating or a Literary Society?" "Report of Canning Club Activities in Our Community;" "Things Our Community Has That We Are Proud Of," etc.

It was suggested at the meeting of the trustees referred to above that every community might well spend a part of the day planting trees and shrubs on the school grounds. February 22 is too late for the most successful planting of trees in Central Texas. November and December are our best months.

It is worth saying here that whatever trees are planted ought to be well planted. Every transplanted tree that lives and grows is an example to inspire further effort; every one that dies is a standing advertisement of failure and a discouragement to future attempts. One fine young tree planted after a generous plan is worth a whole forest of saplings stuck up in holes dug with a post auger.

It hardly needs to be said that in most cases the teacher will be the logical one to head the movement for School House Day. But everyone should manifest interest and lend a hand. However, if at the appointed place and time only three faithful ones should meet, let them not be discouraged; let them get busy and do something for the community.

A NEW OLD IDEA.

Everybody seems to think that money lenders should lend money to farmers at 3 and 4 per cent. The Vanguard has an idea. It is by no means new for former generations, but it has been obsolete so long we resurrect it as brand new. The idea is this:

Farmers pay the freight on all they buy and sell. If they can reduce freight they can buy cheaper and sell higher. Now, if they will reduce the freight on money it will enable money lenders to reduce the price of its use.

We are agitating the taxation of bonds, notes, etc. We are not only agitating, but we are trying to do it. In making the effort we are creating more liars and perjurers than ever was known before. We fail to get the tax on 90 per cent of the bonds and mortgages in the country that owe the tax under the law, while we are actually raising the price of the use of money by the enactment of the law.

The Federal government had sense enough fifty years ago to exempt its bonds from taxation. The result was that the government has always borrowed money cheaper than any private concern could possibly borrow it.

If the farmers of the country want cheap money, they must not expect to get it when they enact laws taxing loans. If they do levy such a tax they will have to continue to do as they are doing now—pay the tax themselves in increased interest.—Comanche Vanguard.

The Eagle can't see much in this "new old idea" after its resurrection by the Vanguard. The government can borrow money cheaper than an individual because the collateral is better. The argument that a money lender will lower his interest rates because his loans are not taxed will not hold water. It's "agin" human nature, especially in these days of get all you can and any way you can. It's like the exploded doctrine of free raw materials, in which it was argued the manufacturer would reduce the price of his manufactured goods provided he could get his raw material cheaper. The theory went up in smoke upon the first trial under the new tariff law. It would be the same with interest should loans be exempted from taxation.

PROBLEM OF LAND TENANCY.

Land tenancy and its concomitant, absentee landlordism, is steadily becoming a problem of increasing concern in our chief agricultural States. In twenty-five States which produce most of the perishable products, the grain and the cotton, there are 2,500,000 tenant farmers.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits, tells us that in the last ten years, both in Texas and Oklahoma, the percentage of increase in tenant farmers over the increase in land owning farmers has been two to one.

In the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Nebraska, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California there has been an actual increase since 1880 of 994,361 tenants, while home owning farmers have increased but 606,755.

He also tells us that in the States of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania tenant farmers have increased for the same period by 121,164, while the number of home owning farmers has actually decreased by 62,915.

This tendency must be arrested if we would avoid a condition of landed aristocracy on the one hand and rural peasantry on the other, such as exist in many countries in Europe, where agricultural life is an unceasing struggle for a bare existence. The problem of how to make more home owners and fewer tenant farmers is one that presses for solution, with very inchoate ideas among present day politicians as to how to meet it.—Houston Post.

Landlord aristocracy comes in every country in proportion as the country grows older. It is coming in this country, and will increase under present conditions, as time goes on. The only remedy, as we see it, is for a reduction of acreage per man and the adoption of intensified methods of farming. From five to ten acres is ample to support any family and if the tenants of the country are made to understand this and then shown how to utilize this reduced acreage, it will influence them in buying small homes. The Eagle believes our experiment stations and extension departments should establish small farms as object lessons, show just what can be done on a small acreage, and in this way open the eyes of the people to the possibilities of a small farm. We believe this would be a saving remedy against the oncoming evil of a landed aristocracy.

PARABLE ON BOYS.

Verily in this day and generation the father raiseth up his son on the streets and sidewalks. He layeth around the soda fount and imbibeth slop and hookworm. He groweth in knowledge of nothing save cigarettes and cuss words.

When he attaineth the age of sixteen he acquireth a suit of clothes turned up at the bottom two furlongs above his feet. He displayeth a pair of noisy socks with purple background and violets to the front. He wearth a pair of low cut shoes, also a green necktie. He looketh like a banana merchant of the streets of Cairo.

The inside of his head resembleth the inside of a pumpkin. He falleth in love with a spindle-shanked girl with pink ribbons in her hair, and craveth for an automobile that he may ride her forth in springtime. He scattereth his pin money like a cyclone scattereth a rail fence. He sitteth up at night to write poetry and giveth no thought to the multiplication table. His mind turneth to the varieties of life and not to the high cost of corn bread.

Verily, verily, he needeth a board applied to the southwest corner of his anatomy.

He thinketh his father a plodder and his mother a back number. He pictureth to himself great riches suddenly acquired. He dreameth of steam yachts and private cars.

Yea, he thinketh himself the real stuff. He butteth in where he is not wanted; he criticiseth his elders; he purchaseth cheap perfume and smell-eth louder than a billy goat.

When he groweth up he getteth a job as clerk in a store at $1 a day and swipeth the change from his boss until he is caught.—Exchange.

A LITTLE TARIFF LESSON.

George W. Knight of San Marcos has got the right idea. Hear him:

"Take off the tariff, so that our ships may 'bring a load,' as well as carry; that will rebuild the cost of living."

Isn't that common sense?

Go down to Galveston, and what do you witness? Exports about 100 to 1 of imports.

And the railroads running into Galveston are likewise sufferers; loaded cars in and empties out.

Trade is an equation; the other fellow must pay in what he produces, or his buying power is greatly diminished.—Waco Times-Herald.

That sounds like good dope and good logic, but is it? The whole wide world wants our stuff and we are shipping it to them. We make everything and raise everything here that can be made or raised anywhere, and we are living at home. We don't need to have the other fellow's stuff shipped in to us.

It is announced from Washington that an amendment of our neutrality laws so the Department of Justice can deal with cases difficult, if not impossible, to reach under existing statutes, will be one of the tasks before the coming session of Congress. The Eagle recently announced that the wholesale burning of munition factories in this country and the wrecking and burning of ships by means of incendiary bombs, all because of European war prejudices, was one of the most serious problems now before the people of this country. To deal with cases of this kind and stamp it out is a part of the task before Congress above mentioned.

SOME KNOTTY PROBLEMS.

In discussing with Judge Maloney the construction of the improved highways in road district No. 1 of Brazos County, several questions came up concerning the improvement of those city streets which join the roads that are to be improved at the city limits, it being agreed when the bonds were voted that the roads should be improved to the county court house.

There are several questions connected with this street improvement. In the first place, curbs and gutters will have to be built on both sides of the streets to be improved and the streets will have to be improved from curb to curb. Now, who is to pay for this work? Will the citizens along the streets put in the curbs and gutters and will the city share with the county the expense of the street improvement?

Judge Maloney says the maximum road width in the country will be sixteen feet, while the city streets will be from thirty to forty feet. He does not believe the bond money should be used in improving more than sixteen feet inside the city limits. He also does not believe it would be practicable or advisable for the county to improve sixteen feet in the center of the streets and leave the remainder unimproved.

These are the questions involved. How are the curbs and gutters to be built and is the city in position to co-operate in the improvement of the streets? The difficulties are apparent? In the first place, many of the property owners are not able to put in curbs and gutters, and the city is hardly in position to put up the money for its part of the improvements. And if it were able, would the council be justified in joining in the improvement of these streets to the exclusion of all others?

Judge Maloney would like to have these questions discussed and the matter settled now before the work is begun. He believes that out of this discussion may come some concrete plan to settle the perplexing questions.

The columns of The Eagle are open to those who have suggestions to offer looking to a just solution of the matter.

Given a good road to travel over, a doctor can reach a patient five miles in the country almost as quick as he can get to one in the outskirts of town. As a rule when you want a doctor you want him in a hurry, and often a few minutes in the time of his getting there is a matter of life or death. In such times any man would give a hundred times his road tax to get medical service before it is too late. In the face of such facts, how can anyone oppose good roads?—East Texas Register.

Governor Ferguson boasts the million-dollar appropriation for rural schools. Taxing the farmer to aid the farmer; how is that for statesmanship? It might just as well be run up to ten millions, Governor. The bigger the sum the larger the boast.—Waco Times-Herald.

Governor Ferguson is also responsible for the "three by four" law, as the tenants in this county call it. He says he has saved the renters of Texas and in the same breath announces the purchase by himself of more Texas black land. He failed to show, however, where the tenants have purchased any black land farms.

Congressman J. P. Buchanan is very anxious to hear from the people of his district on the question of preparedness. He complains that they do not write to him. Democrats, where are you holding forth? Why not offer your advice? Here is the one man that is anxious to get it and yet he complains that few words are coming to him. He does not tell you that advice is cheap. Instead he welcomes it, for he would like in important matters to be governed by the will of the majority of the Democrats of his district. That is what we would call "fair enough."—Austin Statesman.

It is a pity we have not more lawmakers in our State and National bodies who are willing to be advised and counseled by their constituents. The statesman who keeps in close communion with his constituents—the people—is steering by the safest compass known on the political seas.

In other words, when a Texas farmer approaches the glorious winter season with a silo full of ensilage, a crib full of corn, a bin full of wheat, a smokehouse full of meat, a whole passel of sweet potatoes and turnips, a barnyard full of chickens, three Jersey cows, several bales of cotton under a shed, his poll tax receipt—well, he's in a position to understand the principle of preparedness.—Houston Post.

The attention of Colonel Bailey is directed to the fact that heaven will not appear here on earth until after the Day of Judgment.

The Liberty Bell did not pass through until after midnight last night, but several hundred were patriotic enough to wait up to see it. This is the first visit of the bell to Bryan during the past 139 years and those who waited up figured that it might be that long before it came again, and in case it was, they thought they might be out of town at the time and so they had better wait up and see it now.

In the sinking of the Ancona, the German government places responsibility for the terrible loss of life on the crew and passengers themselves. Two causes are alleged—that the Ancona tried to escape after the submarine fired a warning shot, and that a panic ensued among the passengers as they were getting in the boats because a few shells were falling on the decks killing men, women and children and scattering blood and pieces of torn and mutilated bodies over the living. It was certainly a very thoughtless thing for the people to do, to lose their presence of mind under such conditions.

Senator O. S. Lattimore of Fort Worth, in discussing before the Baptist Convention at Austin the policy of the State toward denominational schools, said: "There is no sense in denying to the graduates of our junior denominational colleges the right to hold a first grade certificate to teach in the public schools." The idea seems to prevail that the State, because of its normal and training schools, is discriminating against denominational schools.

One thousand bales of cotton belonging to the allies and stored at Providence, R. I., awaiting shipment, was burned last night. The cause of the fire is undetermined according to the dispatches. The dispatches say it is "undetermined," but everybody with a thimbleful of gray matter knows it was touched off by someone who wanted to forestall its conversion into gun cotton.

The allies have established a commercial blockade on the ports of Greece to force from her a declaration of what she intends to do. They have demanded that she join them in the war and thus fulfill her treaty obligations to Serbia, or demobilize her army. The blockade has been established to impress upon the Greek government that they mean business and the result is awaited with interest by all the world.

The art of making a fire in the stove is being gradually lost through the encroachment of steam heat.—Mineral Wells Index.

There'll be no regrets on our part when steam heat so encroaches upon us that the art of making a fire in the stove will go back and take its place with the lost art of embalming which made the mummy possible, known once among the ancient Egyptians and which now is no more.

That was a nice compliment paid Prof. B. K. Coghlan of the A. & M. College highway engineering department, when he was made a director from Texas in the Jefferson National Highway Association at the session of that body just closed at New Orleans.

The papers are now lauding Booker T. Washington. He was a good and great man and wrought nobly for his race. The only thing ever recorded to his discredit was in so far forgetting himself as to sit down at meat with Theodore Roosevelt.

China has been invited to join the entente allies. The reason for the invitation is said to be to avoid friction with Japan and to block the German propaganda being distributed in India and Persia.

What do you think of Judge Maloney's suggestions in regard to the county improving the city streets from the court house to the city limits with the bond money? The Eagle offers you its columns in which to express your views.

The Dallas Democrat says "Bell County has sprung a leak." We'll bet Gov. Ferguson don't think so. His opinion no doubt is that it was the completest plugging of the bung-hole the country ever saw.

More than five thousand people journeyed to Tuskegee to attend the funeral of Booker T. Washington. A greater honor is seldom paid any man, than five thousand people outside his home city gather to do him homage in death.

DEATH OF MR. MARK WILCOX.

An Old and Revered Citizen Passes Away.

As briefly mentioned in these columns Saturday afternoon, Mr. Mark Wilcox, one of the county's oldest and best beloved citizens passed away at his home on Knob Prairie Saturday morning at 12:45. He was taken ill ten weeks ago and was never again able to leave his home, though everything possible was done for him and every tender care that loving hearts and hands could devise was bestowed upon him. His hundreds of friends in Bryan and elsewhere inquired daily as to his condition and for some time all were hopeful of his recovery. Hope, however, in time gave way to anxiousness, and anxiousness was ended by the announcement that death had claimed him.

Mr. Wilcox (Uncle Mark) as everybody knew him, was a native of Georgia, born in Erwin County March 27, 1833, making him at the time of his death 82 years, 7 months 20 days of age. He grew to manhood in Georgia and while quite a young man went to California to seek his fortune in the gold fields of that State, making the trip through Central America and crossing the Isthmus of Panama. He returned to his native State, however, after one year and on August 10th, 1858, was united in marriage to Miss Lizzie G. Cravey. Seven children were born to this union only two of whom are living, John H., and Oscar L. Wilcox of Tabor.

He came to Texas in 1859, the year following his marriage and settled in Shelby County, where he resided until after the war. He came to Brazos County in 1865 soon after the surrender, and this had been his home continuously since that time.

Mr. Wilcox was a quiet, unostentatious man, there being no sham or false pretensions in his nature. With him a yard was thirty-six inches and a pound sixteen ounces. By this rigid rule of honesty he squared every action of his long and useful life, and in all his history there is not one blot on his good name, not one flaw in his title to honored citizenship. He was the soul of honor, just and fair in all business transactions and his word was his bond. During his active years he took a prominent part in all public matters, particularly in politics, and was frequently called into the councils of the Democracy of the county.

He had high ideals of justice and right and at all times stood for those things which make for a higher citizenship, which were for the public welfare and which placed men on the table-lands of a nobler and higher life.

In later years he retired more closely to his home, and his chief delight was in the things that grew up about him on his farm. He excelled in nearly all farm products and it was a great pleasure to him when coming to town to bring his friends some of his choicest specimens. His farm, his friends, his pleasant surroundings formed a beautiful setting for the evening of life, and amid these pleasant surroundings he calmly and undisturbed watched the shadows grow longer and awaited the coming sunset.

He went to the war from Shelby County and served in Company —, Gould's Battalion, Randall's Brigade. He served his beloved Southland with great fidelity until the surrender and then with the thousands of others returned to his Texas home to retrieve his lost fortunes. He was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian Church, and of the Masonic Lodge. He was also a member of Camp J. B. Robertson, United Confederate Veterans.

His first wife died July 8th, 1886, and several years later he married Miss Lou Boggs of this county. No children were born to this union. He is survived by his widow, the two sons above mentioned and two sisters, Mrs. Julia Bozeman of Hawkinsville, Ga., and Mrs. McCremmon of St. Louis. He also leaves two half-sisters in Kansas and two half-brothers, Robert L. Wilcox of Oakdale, North Dakota and John M. Wilcox of Georgia.

He was laid to rest Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Seale graveyard and hundreds of his old friends were present to pay him their last tribute. Rev. C. H. Storey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, conducted the religious services. The funeral was under the auspices of Brazos Union Lodge No. 129 Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, of which he was a member, and the beautiful burial ritual of the order was conducted by Gen. H. B. Stoddard, who was his life-long friend and who had been requested by the deceased long before his death to preside at his funeral obsequies.

The following gentlemen, his brethren in the lodge, served as pallbearers: A. S. McSwain, W. J. Coulter, W. E. Saunders, E. W. Crenshaw, J. D. Martin and C. M. Bell.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, especially one from the members of L. S. Ross Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy. With the mound above his mortal remains banked high with flowers, which attested the love of neighbors and friends, they left the old veteran alone with God.

TWO IMPORTANT LAWS UPHELD

Court of Criminal Appeals Upholds Constitutionality of Warehouse and Eight-Hour Laws.

[By Associated Press.] Austin, Tex., Nov. 17.—The eight-hour law and the State warehouse law were today held to be constitutional by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The warehouse law was attacked on the ground that it violated the Federal constitution, which guarantees equal protection to all persons and prohibits the taking of property without due process of law.

The eight-hour law was attacked as abridging the right of contract and being vague.

All objections to both statutes were overruled.

MOTHER CONSENTED TO CHILD'S DEATH

Operation Could Save It But Would Always Be Deficient Physically and Mentally.

[By Associated Press.] Chicago, Ill., Nov. 17.—The abandonment by surgeons of a defective child to die when a simple operation would let it live, was consented to by its mother, Mrs. Anna Bollinger, who today told her story. The child is six years old, is deformed physically and mentally and in the opinion of the surgeons at the German-American Hospital, would be morally deficient.

It may live forty-eight hours in its present state. "No one need think me an unnatural mother," said Mrs. Bollinger today in her bed at the hospital. "I loved the poor little deformed one as I loved the other three healthy ones, but the doctor told me it would be a cripple all its life, probably an imbecile, and possibly a criminal. I gave my consent to its death. Left to itself, it has no chance to live. I consented to let nature take its course." The baby was born after the mother was seriously ill with typhoid fever.

All Six Machines Make Trip in One Hour From Fort Sill in Safety.

[By Associated Press.] Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 19.—All six machines of the military aero plane squadron which left Fort Sill this morning en route to their new station at San Antonio, reached here safely after a one-hour flight. They will continue the flight tomorrow.

The flight was made at the rate of nearly ninety miles an hour in almost perfect flying conditions. The motor transport of six automobiles and six motorcycles reached here after the aeroplanes arrived, having traversed a greater distance by road than the air-line route.

BRYAN HIGH VS. MARLIN HIGH.

A Nothing to Nothing Score Was Result of Splendid Game.

One of the best football games ever seen in Bryan was played on the Bryan Baptist Academy grounds this morning between the Bryan high school team and the Marlin high school team. Although considerably outweighed by their opponents, the Bryan team easily showed themselves equal to the occasion. The Marlin team is one of the strongest high school teams of the State and is in a close race for the high school championship of Central Texas. The fact that the Bryan high school team played them a 0 to 0 score places them among the leading high school teams of the State. The whole team, not excepting a man, played excellent football and was in every movement of the game. Charley Cole, Bryan's "lightweight" right end, made many spectacular plays, both on offensive and defensive. His ability to dodge interference and break up plays was all but remarkable. Dunn, in center, played a faultless game. His work in tackling and blocking attempted kicks was easily noticeable. Osborne, Shramek and Gammill, Bryan's reliable backfield men, were equal to every emergency they were called upon to meet. Osborne's fierce line plunges frequently netted six to eight yard gains for his team.

During most of the game the ball was kept in Bryan's territory, but not many times was her goal line in danger. Near the close of the game Bryan carried the ball to Marlin's ten-yard line and was prevented from making a touchdown only by a penalty.

Each team tried a drop kick, each of which resulted in a failure. Marlin tried a place kick, which was blocked by one of the Bryan boys. A few good passes were made by Marlin and several attempted by Bryan.

It is possible that Bryan will meet the Marlin team on the latter's field on Thanksgiving Day to settle the tie.

The lineup:

Bryan.	Marlin.
Dunn	Johnson
Cooke	Center.
Harrison	Herring
Seale	Right guard.
Cloud	Left guard.
Cole	Right tackle.
Shramek	Right end.
Osborne	Left end.
Gammill	Oakes
Parker	Brown
Time of quarters—Eleven minutes.
Referee—Charles Hudson.
Umpire—Walter Holmes.

STORAGE OF COTTON.

(Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture.) Washington, Nov. 19.—It is very important, according to the specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, that all cotton that is not marketed when ginned should be stored or placed in a position where it will be protected from injury by moisture. Where cotton is exposed to rain it is subject to serious injury.

and where it is sheltered but left in contact with the wet ground it is likely to become seriously damaged. It is frequently the case that people do not realize the amount of damage that is done. In many instances cotton appears from the outside of the bale to be in fairly good condition, when it is really badly injured inside due to the fact that moisture has been allowed to penetrate the bale, thus causing mildew.

It is not unusual, according to the department's data, for cotton to suffer a loss of from $3 to $5 a bale as a result of unnecessary exposure. At all times it should be kept off the ground and properly sheltered. Where it is impossible to place it in a warehouse it should be protected by a dry shed or it may be placed on poles or timbers which will keep it several inches from the ground, and covered with tarpaulins. Protected in this way, it can be held for six months, or even a year with very little damage.

RUSSIA AND PERSIA AGREE.

[By Associated Press.] Teheran, Nov. 20.—Adjustment of differences between Persia and Russia has caused the Shah to decide not to leave Teheran, according to the official announcement today. The Persian government is said to have smoothed out the difficulty by taking steps to stop agitation by German agents and to disarm roving bands. Russian troops now approaching the city will change their course.

cost of insurance. This loss is brought about primarily by the construction of cheap warehouses. The rate of insurance on these cheap structures ranges from 2 per cent to 4 per cent per annum, while it is possible to insure cotton, in the standard warehouse, with proper equipment, at the rate of one-fourth of 1 per cent per annum. The cheap structures last a comparatively few years and cost almost as much as the standard warehouse. The saving in insurance will pay for the difference in cost of the warehouse in a very short time. While it is better to construct inexpensive warehouses than it is to allow the cotton to be damaged, it is much better and even cheaper, in the long run, to construct standard warehouses.

SETTLED FOR BRIDGE WORK.

Repairs on Pitts Bridge Cost the County $9,300.

Judge J. T. Maloney informed The Eagle today that the county has made a final settlement with Austin Bros., bridge builders of Dallas, for their work on Pitts bridge over the Brazos river. The cost of the work, he states, was $9,300. The bridge was damaged by the last flood on the river in which two spans of the bridge were damaged by the water and subsequent caving of the bank on the Brazos County side, which necessitated two practically new spans. The contract was awarded to Austin Bros. for cost plus 10 per cent. Austin Bros. were also awarded the contract for the repair work on Jones bridge, which is now in progress.

THE LIBERTY BELL TRAIN WAS LATE

Came After Midnight But Some 300 Patriots Waited Up to See It.

At exactly 12:45 a. m. the special train bearing the old Liberty Bell and the party in charge steamed into Bryan and was met at the depot by about 300 howling patriots, old and young. The car bearing the bell was on the rear end of the train and was well lighted so that a good view was obtained of the old historic relic by all present. The bell was found just as it had been described innumerable times, with the crack down the side and the inscriptions on it. It was a sight that should have been seen by all, as one could not view the ancient history maker without a feeling of pride and patriotism welling up in his bosom for this grand Republic which the old bell has known since the day when it so eloquently proclaimed its birth.

The car was decorated fittingly with United States flags and cards bearing pictures and a complete history of the bell were given away by the attendants on the train. All who desired to do so were given permission to touch the bell and quite a number of those present took advantage of the opportunity.

The train was thrown completely off its schedule on account of a late arrival in Dallas, which city it did not leave until about 7 o'clock. This was cause for quite a disappointment to a large number of people who were anxious for their children to see the bell.

The Eagle in giving the time of the arrival of the bell at 8:30 o'clock was acting on information being given to us that the bell at last report was about an hour and a half late, but this was evidently the way it arrived in Dallas.

The property owners will be given a hearing and chance to make objections if they desire to do so before the work is begun.

AMERICANS TO HELP GERMANY

Sympathizers in New York Organized Association for Shipment of Food.

[By Associated Press.]

New York, Nov. 17.—An organized move to aid the civilian population of Germany and Austria by sending food from the United States was launched here Tuesday by a "citizens' committee for food shipment," consisting of forty-five physicians, clergymen and prominent women. The organization has provided for branch committees throughout the country. Dr. H. J. Wolf is chairman of the committee, who, in an announcement, says:

"America's position with reference to the central powers, especially Germany, is peculiar. Germany has for many years depended upon us for large quantities of food and wheat and is the principal purchaser of our cottonseed meal for the support of her vast herds of cattle. The shutting off of our exports of cottonseed meal curtailed the milk supply and created problems in the feeding of children that are now becoming increasingly acute. Our government has declared that the present English blockade is 'ineffective, illegal and indefensible,' and that it is entirely within the rights of any citizen of the United States to deal with civilian Germans in foodstuffs and these rights are not merely privileges. Our obligations to Germany as a customer in the past and in the future, and innumerable ties of relationship and sympathy impose a duty upon us to live up to our rights, because shipments of foodstuffs, while a matter of profitable commerce for us, may become to many of our friends a matter of life and death."

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

Carelessly Washed Utensils Spoil Flavor of Cooking.

Pockets in Aprons—Some people find the pockets on kitchen aprons most convenient when set on the left side.

Nothing will spoil the flavor of cooking quicker than carelessly washed cooking utensils.

The trimmings that are left after frenching chops can be used if cooked in casserole with vegetables.

Men's clothes should always be brushed and kept on hangers if possible, rather than folded away.

Piece bags are excellent made from netting of scrim—then one can find readily whatever one is looking for.

When patching waists it's a good idea to fasten the waist inside an embroidery frame while the work proceeds.

Chicken cooked the day it is killed is not so well flavored as one that has been drawn and placed on the ice for a day.

Canned Vegetables—There is great convenience as well as economy in buying canned vegetables by the case, if your family is rather large.

Butter will keep better if it is removed from its wrapping and placed in a clean dish and put in the bottom of the refrigerator.

AUNT JANE OVERSTREET.

Aunt Jane Overstreet, known to almost every man, woman and child in Bryan as "Aunt Sweet Jane," one of the oldest negro mamies in Brazos County, died at her home here Monday and was buried in the colored cemetery yesterday. Aunt Jane was nearing the century mark in age and this is given as the principal cause of her death. She had quite a large number of friends both among the white and colored people of Bryan who regret to learn of her death.

PEOPLE HAD NO DRINKING WATER

Allies Made Discovery—Canadian Engineers Are Providing Water Supply.

London, Nov. 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—When the first British naval forces landed at Lemnos, near the entrance of the Dardanelles, they were surprised to find that the island, which has an area of nearly 200 square miles and a population of 30,000, was practically destitute of drinking water, except for uncertain supplies from a few small springs. The allied troops were supplied with mineral water sent in shiploads through the generosity of a French woman in Marseilles.

The British authorities promptly sent to Canada for engineers, who are now engaged in sinking artesian wells which will guarantee the people of Lemnos a reliable and abundant water supply.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 20.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent November 22 to 25, warm wave 21 to 23, cool wave 24 to 26. Storm will be of greater force and temperatures will average higher than for the previous week; not much precipitation. The reader should note that our forecast of deficient rain east of the Rockies has proven correct. We are not expecting much snow east of the Rockies the coming winter. Farmers are of the opinion that a deficiency of snow is bad for winter wheat, particularly if the winds are stronger than usual, as that condition winter kills the wheat. Most snow is expected in the Rockies and in Northern Pacific slope, where winter wheat is a small production. Crop weather for 1916 promises to be more important than usual, as it is expected to have radical influences on all crops, particularly wheat and corn.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about November 30, cross Pacific slope by close of December 1, central valleys December 2 to 4, Eastern sections 5. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about November 30, central valleys December 2, Eastern sections 4. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about December 3, central valleys 5, Eastern sections 7.

The important feature of this storm will be the cold wave following it together with the cold spell from about December 4 to 10. Heavy snows in Northern Rockies are expected at that time. Temperatures are expected to go very high about November 30 and then go to very low degrees about December 6. But not much snow or rain east of the Rockies.

Christmas holiday temperatures will be about normal. High temperatures in central valleys December 25 with storm forces of greater intensity than usual. A great rise in temperatures expected from November 16 to 29.

December is an important crop weather month for South America as their wheat crop will be near its bloom. Too much rain in Chile is expected and that would be bad for their wheat but good for their corn crop. But it will be dry in Argentina and all the countries east of the Andes Mountains. That condition will be good for the wheat crop east of the Andes and bad for their corn crop.

That rain month and its crop weather conditions for South America will cover December 12 to January 10 and is expected to have important effects on the South American crops.

During the same period, December 12 to January 10, India is expected to get an unusually large amount of rain. Our country is interested in the crop weather of India and South America because their growing crops compete with ours during our winter.

During December Jupiter will be the conspicuous object in the upper southern skies, while Mars and Saturn will illuminate the early mornings. Venus, the silver queen, will appear in the west soon after sunset. Our youth should study the star charts which our Aryan ancestors mapped in prehistoric times before they were driven from the highlands of Asia by drouth. Our race is returning to the study of astronomy.

NEVER EAT WHAT YOU DISLIKE.

In thorough accord with the views of certain authorities who believe, with limitations, that people are better off if they eat what they like, is the following letter printed in the Christmas issue of the Woman's Home Companion:

"I am constrained to protest against the advice given mothers to oblige their children to eat food which they dislike. Most grown people have their likes and dislikes, and if it were a punishment to them to eat a despised article, how much more so it is to a child to whom small troubles loom as tragedies! The child's distaste should not be discussed, simply ignored until he has forgotten how much he hated a certain article. There are many good and nourishing things, that if one is fancied disliked, how much better to substitute something else, thereby avoiding issues and friction, which everyone knows are harmful to a child's nerves and health, and disposition as well. And as for letting a child go without his needed nourishment till next meal if he refuses one article—the injustice of it is too apparent to need comment."

A. & M. CADETS CELEBRATE.

Bonfires, Bells and Whistles Proclaimed Their Great Joy.

At about 9 o'clock last night things picked up in Bryan because the A. & M. corps hit town about this time intent on impressing everybody with the fact that they had won the big game yesterday and incidentally to give vent to some surplus enthusiasm they had stored up. They seemed to know where every bell, whistle and everything that would make noise was located and proceeded to make use of this knowledge, and mingled with their yells and the yells of their friends, they made things merry for several hours. A big bonfire was built on the pavement near the Smith Drug Company corner on West Anderson street and was kept burning for some time to furnish sufficient light for antics of every description. When the fire had smoldered out and an examination was made the pavement was found to have cracked and broken into small pieces under the fire. This, however, can be easily remedied.

FINE POTATOES.

I. M. Cook, one of our leading farmers from the Steep Hollow community, called at the Commercial Club office today and left a sample of sweet potatoes grown on his farm. Twelve of these potatoes fill a half-bushel measure. Mr. Cook reports a yield of 100 bushels per acre from a three-acre field. Mr. Cook has demonstrated also that fall Irish potatoes can be grown in Brazos County. He left a sample of fall-grown potatoes planted the latter part of August, and prettier potatoes were never exhibited anywhere.

APPETIZING APPLE DISHES.

Apples are so plentiful at this season and make so universal an appeal to the housewife both as to price and value in the diet that these recipes are most timely:

Apple Sauce Cake—(Eggless, milkless)—1 cup apple sauce, sweetened, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup shortening, 1 teaspoon common cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup raisins, 1 teaspoon soda, 2½ cups or more flour. Mix as for butter cake.

Apple Shortcake—2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup shortening. Mix as for baking powder biscuits. Fill the pie plate with sliced apples, cover with the crust. Bake until the apples are tender and the crust is thoroughly baked. Turn on a plate, dot with butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Serve with or without cream.

Fried Bacon and Apples—Place the bacon on a rack in the dripping pan. The pan should have enough water in it to cover the bottom. Place in a hot oven, cook until the bacon is crisp. Slice cored, unpared apples. Heat the bacon drippings in a pan, lay in the apples, sprinkle with sugar, and cook in the oven until brown. Serve the bacon on a platter surrounded with apples.

Apple Whip—1 cup sweetened apple sauce, whites of 3 eggs, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, juice and rind of ½ lemon. Beat the eggs until stiff, add sugar and baking powder. Cut and fold in the apple sauce mixed with the lemon. Turn into a buttered dish, set the dish in a pan of water, and bake in a slow oven until firm to the touch.

Steamed Apples—pare and partly core apples. Do not remove the blossom end. Place the apples in a steamer and fill with butter, sugar and cinnamon; sugar, cinnamon and lemon; or candied ginger. Serve with meringue or whipped cream.—Cora E. Binzel, Instructor in Home Economics, University of Wisconsin.

IS OPPOSED TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Houston Lady Show sHow Suffrage for Women Would not Change Election Results.

To the Bryan Eagle:

Do you know woman suffrage has never been endorsed by the majority of the people affected in any State? Seventy-four per cent of the women who vote have been enfranchised by legislative grant. Women lobbyists in the Legislatures have had more influence among the men, elected to legislate for the whole State, and who should have ascertained the wishes of their constituents before giving any grant, than lecturers and writers have had among the people thus forced to accept woman's suffrage.

The belief that political equality will tend to lower the standard of womanhood is grounded on fact. In one county in Kentucky nearly 200 women were indicted for selling their votes at one dollar each in a school election. A negro man was convicted for the same offense at the same time. On November 2 the women of Beardstown, Illinois, cast enough votes to continue the sale of liquor in the town. They voted against State-wide prohibition and carried the election in California, and in several towns in the State where women outnumbered the men local option elections resulted in continuing or reinstating saloons. I do not mean to intimate that all women will vote for saloons. They assuredly will not. Neither will all men. The point to be emphasized is, woman nature is not immune to the motives and snares which corrupt and entangle men. Political equality will increase election expenses, but doubling the vote will leave the country politically in the same condition and socially work havoc. What is the use?

MRS. GEORGE F. ARNOLD, Vice-President Houston Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

ENJOYABLE BIRTHDAY.

Miss Lella Maud Newcomb was the happy hostess to quite a number of friends who gathered with her on last Saturday from three to five in celebration of her thirteenth birthday. Different games of entertainment were indulged in, one in particular affording great fun and enjoyment, was a peanut hunt on the lawn, the one securing the largest number was awarded a prize, Miss Evelyn Miller being the winner.

The taking of kodak pictures throughout the evening afforded great pleasure to all.

A delicious refreshment course of ice cream and cake was served.

The little guests on departing assured the hostess of a delightful afternoon, with wishes for many happy returns of the day, who in turn thanked each friend warmly for the beautiful gifts received.

BRYAN BURGLARS HAD BUSY NIGHT

Three Business Houses on Main Street Entered and Small Sums of Cash Taken From Each.

Last night was another busy night for the burglars in Bryan, and three business houses of the city felt the effect of their night's work. Bell Brothers grocery establishment was entered and $1 in small change was taken from the cash register. The dry goods store of Phillip Hermer, a few doors from Bell Brothers, was also entered and about $15 in cash was secured from the cash drawer. Myers Hardware Company establishment was the other house entered and about $3 in cash was secured. Entrance to Bell Brothers and Hermer's was effected through the windows in the second story, but the burglar entered the hardware store through a transom. They were very much on the job and seemed to be out after the cash, as no merchandise in any of the places has been missed.

An effort was also made to enter the Mendlovitz department store, but after failing to force the lock on the rear door the attempt was abandoned. The officers are making a determined effort to apprehend the burglars and stop their work which seems to be confined to the business district, but no arrests have yet been made.

WILL SHOW HOW TO GET DEFENSE FUND

Besides Needs of Army and Navy He Will Urge Merchant Marine and Ratification of Treaties.

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Wilson will indicate, in his annual message to Congress, which he is writing, how, in his opinion, the money necessary to provide for national defense, as proposed by the administration, can be raised.

The president will lay aside practically all other work this week to have, if possible, his message in the hands of the public printer before Thanksgiving day.

He is expected to press the importance of legislation for increases in the army and navy; a merchant marine; rural credits; greater measure of self government for the Philippines; conservation and ratification of the Haitian, Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties.

Bryan's business circles have been augmented by the coming of a real furniture man to the city. Mr. Ernest Moore, who knows the furniture business from the ground up, has taken charge of that department of the E. F. Parks Company and has already entered upon his duties. Mr. Moore is from Fort Worth and for years has been connected with one of the largest wholesale and retail furniture houses in the South. He is anxious to meet the people of Bryan, College and surrounding country and to have the pleasure of showing them through the superb stock of which he is now in control.

MUSICAL NOTES.

(Herbert William Reed.)

This season, more than ever before, are the works of American composers featured on concert and recital programs. This is not being done simply as a mark of courtesy or of patriotism, but because there is decided merit in American music. Let us look forward through optimistic glasses to a time when the term "American" in music will have the same significance that "Sterling" does in silverware.

An "allied concert party," consisting of Ysabe, the Belgian violinist; de Pachmann, the Russian pianist; and Elsa Stralla, an Australian soprano, have been giving a number of concerts in England. The term "allies," then, doesn't always mean the fighting crowd.

Fritz Kreisler, the great Austrian violinist, limped onto our shores a number of months ago, suffering from a wound received in active service. And now comes Charles Dalmores, the eminent French tenor, who spent last winter fighting in the trenches. He has recently been released from service, having spent several months in the hospital as a result of exposure. Mr. Dalmores comes to fill an engagement with the Chicago Opera Company.

Mr. Paderewski celebrated his fifty-fifth birthday this month. Mr. Sousa was fifty-nine on the sixth. The latter laughs whenever it is mentioned that his name was originally John So, and remarks that the appellation, "John So, U. S. A.," was one of the cleverest bits of advertising he ever received. The name Sousa is Portuguese, but the bandmaster was born in Washington, D. C. I wonder how many bands will play his "Liberty Bell March" in greeting to the historic Independence Bell on its journey across the continent? This composition is said to have earned the composer over thirty-five thousand dollars.

A very clever recent composition is Mr. John Alden Carpenter's suite for orchestra entitled "Adventures in a Perambulator." It is descriptive music pure and simple, and is said to be very ingenious, being decidedly diverting. What will the musical geniuses try to depict next?

From Europe comes the news that Theodore Leschetizky, at one time a noted concert pianist, better known as a composer, and famous as a piano teacher, is dead at the age of 85. Thus another musical life, long is years of usefulness and rich with earthly rewards, has reached its conclusion. Born in Austrian Poland in 1830, he received his first instruction from his father. Later he received from Carl Czerny the traditions which the latter had acquired from Beethoven. Czerny, it will be remembered, was also the teacher of Liszt. Thus Leschetizky began the career of a concert pianist and later settled as a teacher in the St. Petersburg Conservatory, where he taught many years. His career as a pianist ended with the advent of his pupil, Annette Esipoff, whom he married, and for whose advancement he used all his influence. She was one of the greatest pianists of her day. After the success of his famed pupil, Paderewsky, Leschetizky became the most sought after teacher in the world. It was necessary for him to train assistants who prepared his pupils for him. Other noted pianists who studied with him are Sieveking, Hambourg, Gabrilowitsch and Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler. No teacher has suffered more from misrepresentation. The "Leschetizky method" has been advertised by hundreds of his pupils who became teachers, and no two representatives teach alike. The fact is, the great pedagogue studied the needs of each individual pupil, and treated each one accordingly. Time and again he declared "I have no method," and he often expressed the wish that the public would finally come to believe him, as he was tired of reiterating the fact.

In the last column of notes I made mention of music as a modern art. Those who have never given study to the subject are prone to associate our music with past dead ages, with the pyramids of Egypt, and the great Chinese wall. It way surprise many to learn that there is little music studied that is any older than one of our great American institutions of learning, Harvard College. Music is the youngest of all the arts. Sculpture reached its golden age twenty centuries ago, and the names of Phidias and Praxiteles have never since been dimmed by any other sculptor. Architecture, likewise, blossomed in full perfection during the early Grecian period. Painting, also, gave early evidence of artistic merit, and seemed quickly to reach its climax. The sixteenth and seventeenth centuries stand for its golden era. These centuries did much for literature, and England produced Shakespeare, Spenser, Bacon and Milton. It was not until the eighteenth century that there were any creations in musical art suitable to stand with the great specimens just mentioned. Suddenly there shone two great lights in the musical firmament; two great giants arose from a procession of pygmies; two great creative minds brought order out of chaos, and John Sebastian Bach and George Frederick Handel stood before the world as creators and masters of music.

TEXAS FOUL BROOD LAW.

Copies May Be Secured From State Entomologist at College Station.

Printed copies of the new foul brood law have just been received at the Texas experiment station and are being sent out as circular 8, new series. These are being sent to the beekeepers of the State whose names now appear on the mailing list of the State entomologist, F. B. Paddock. This list is supposed to include all the names of the active beekeepers, but there are no doubt many people who are interested in bees whose names do not appear on this list. Those who do not receive a copy of this law and are interested in it should address a special request to the director of the experiment station, College Station.

This law was passed by the Thirty-third Legislature and is known as Act No. 51. The law was secured by the action of the beekeepers of the State, who were anxious to protect their industry. The support of this law was secured in part by the beekeepers and the benefits to be derived from it may be enjoyed by the beekeepers all over the State. Such inspection of the bees is entirely for the good of the beekeeper and the industry throughout the State. This work is not intended to cause any hardship to any beekeeper. Wherever foul brood exists it is sure to spread and in time will destroy all the bees in a vicinity. The object of the inspection is to detect the start of foul brood and stamp it out before it has gained much headway.

At its meeting in the summer of 1909 the State Beekeepers' Association adopted a resolution recommending that county beekeepers' associations be formed in all the counties where foul brood existed. These county associations were to recommend to the State entomologist a suitable experienced beekeeper in the county for appointment as apiary inspector. This action was the beginning of the present plan of having the county beekeepers' association select the inspector. The plan has worked so well that the State entomologist has made it a rule not to undertake foul brood eradication work in any county unless the beekeepers of that county are enough interested to organize a county association to select the inspector and cooperate in this work.

Those beekeepers in counties where this inspection work is not now being conducted are urged to act on the suggestion given above to secure the appointment of an inspector. Those who are interested should write to F. B. Paddock, State entomologist, College Station, Texas.

HOW TO TEACH CHILDREN OBEDIENCE.

In the December Woman's Home Companion Caroline French Benton says:

"There is no chapter in Colonial history more full of domestic tragedy than that which deals with the practice pursued at the time, for breaking a child's will. Those times when the parent was an autocrat have gone forever, but the problem of obedience is always present.

"Parents sometimes shrink from the plain duty of training a child to obey. They fail to see that obedience to law is the great underlying principle of good character and good citizenship. No one should try to evade the responsibility of giving a child his right start in life by making him obedient.

"The child as an individual has a right to his own will, one we dare not refuse lightly, and certainly one we dare not take from him altogether. A parent's experience is meant to help the child avoid mistakes as far as may be. When the child realizes that his parents are trying to help rather than govern him, the will to become obedient has begun already to shape itself. The one great point to realize is that the state of obedience is a temporary one; it is only the means to a great end—that of training the child's will toward constant right doing."

EXCHANGE.

FOR EXCHANGE—372½ acres of Mitchell County land; fine climate; big crops. J. Webb Howell.

Problems For Nov. and Dec.

Next Year's Cotton Seed—Anthracnose, or cotton boll rot, has infected all cotton seed grown east of a line running from Wichita Falls south through Llan, Austin Bastrop and Bay City. All farmers east of that line should plow under or cut and burn all cotton stalks and get seed for next year's planting from points west of that line. To plant infected seed will mean disaster to the crop next spring and summer. An opportunity for profitable cooperation is presented to farmers on both sides of the line. Those on the infected side should get together, combine their orders and buy seed in bulk. Farmers in the non-infested area should unite and seek a market for their surplus seed.

The Boll Weevil—There are more boll weevils in the cotton fields of Texas than at any time in the history of the state. The menace to next year's crop is very great. All cotton stalks should have been plowed under or burned before this time, but if this has not been done no time should be lost in attending to this important matter. If the weevils are not destroyed before they go into winter quarters it will be hazardous to plant cotton on the land next year.
